

Loom Song Acoustic Textiles

Leon × MAISON TÔUKKANI

Two Worlds. One Shared Vision.

A collaboration between Leon and Maison Tóukkani, the Loom Song collection of sound-dampening textiles reinterprets traditional Moroccan rug-making through a contemporary lens—honoring generations of artisanal weaving while translating its cultural language into modern design.

Each work preserves the texture and individuality inherent to handwoven textiles, and pairs them with Leon's expertise in acoustic design to create functional works of art.

Integrated within purpose-built acoustic structures, the textiles actively shape the surrounding soundscape—softening background noise and bringing greater clarity and intention to a space.

The result is a dialogue between heritage and innovation, where cultural expression, craftsmanship, and performance converge to enrich any interior.

Leon Speakers

Founded by Noah Kaplan in 1997 in Ann Arbor, MI, Leon is a design-driven manufacturer of innovative audiovisual solutions that thoughtfully integrate technology into the built environment.

Combining a rich legacy of American craftsmanship with world-class acoustic engineering, Leon produces custom speakers, media furnishings, and technology concealment solutions for residential and commercial spaces around the world.

Maison Tóukkani

Founded in 2019 by Khalida Tóukkani, Maison Tóukkani embodies exceptional craftsmanship and timeless design, guided by Morocco's rich textile heritage.

Specializing in handcrafted pieces for residential, commercial, and hospitality spaces, the Maison transforms spaces into luxurious sanctuaries with a distinctive narrative. Each creation reflects a commitment to quality, durability, and refinement, with remarkable customization possibilities—from colors and dimensions to textures, patterns, and fully bespoke designs.

At the heart of the Maison are the women artisans of Maison Tóukkani Manufacture, established to provide a safe and supportive environment. Khalida is deeply committed to their well-being and to preserving and empowering their craft across every project.

The Collection

Loom Song Acoustic Textiles

Traditional Moroccan Artistry. Modern Design.

With roots in the traditions of M'rirt weaving, Khalida and her team draw on over a thousand years of time-honored techniques reinterpreted through a contemporary lens.

Hand-knotted wool embraces its natural tonal variation, while gestural compositions introduce movement and spontaneity. In doing so, the Loom Song collection feels both ancestral and immediate—preserving the inherited knowledge of the loom, while shifting toward a more abstract visual language.
